

Sue Leather Associates Online Learning

Leading the Project

October 9th- November 10th 2017

A 5-week online course for professionals working in leadership roles on projects in ELT/ESL contexts. This course is a second-level course and is ideal for people with some experience of project management. Typical participants are School Heads, Heads of Departments, Directors of Studies, Course Directors and Project Managers.

The course

- Runs on Moodle platform
- Twice a year
- Fully facilitated
- Certificated

Content examples

- Input on leadership theories and practice
- Applying theories to practice
- Input on the specific skills of leadership
- Developing ideas about yourself as a leader

You will..

- Learn how to successfully lead a project
- Work 5 - 7 hours per week
- Complete tasks linked to your work
- Get feedback from experienced tutors

What our clients say about us

It was a very challenging and interesting course.
English Department Manager, Syria

The Moodle environment helped me fit the learning around my work and other commitments.
ELT Projects Manager, London, UK.

The tutors were very engaged and engaging
School Head, Turkey

About us

Sue Leather is a consultant and trainer with extensive experience of learning programme development and capacity building projects in transitional and challenging contexts.

Andy Hockley is a consultant and trainer with considerable experience of implementing, managing, and consulting on large and small-scale educational projects in a number of different contexts.

Contact us for pricing and registration

SUE LEATHER ASSOCIATES

info@sueleatherassociates.com
www.sueleatherassociates.com